Professor Taylor, one of the nation's premier experts in Colonial America and the early U.S. republic, received a Pulitzer Prize in 2014 for his book, The Internal Enemy: Slavery and War in Virginia, 1772-1832. The Pulitzer committee's citation calls the book "a meticulous and insightful account of why runaway slaves in the colonial era were drawn to the British side as potential liberators." Dr. Taylor's other books include "The Civil War of 1812: American Citizens, British Subjects, Irish Rebels and Indians Allies" and "The Divided Ground: Indians, Settlers and the Northern Borderland of the American Revolution."

Parking and admission are free; a reception follows the talk.

*Named for Fran Aronson, a devoted volunteer at St. Paul's in the 1980s and 90s.
